Explore Your

Horizons

*"The horizon leans forward,
Offering you space to place
new steps of change.
Here, on the pulse
of this fine day
You may have the courage
To look up and out upon me..."*
--Maya Angelou,
"On the Pulse of Morning"

Life is a series of paths, each coming to a point, where there is a bridge of learning or of experience that must be traversed. While you cross these bridges, a horizon of views, opinions, ideas, and thoughts are opened to you. Things at one time you never thought possible now, when facing this new horizon, suddenly become clear. We, the staff on the Horizon Yearbook, dedicate this book to the Seniors and Graduates of the class of 1998 as their bridge of learning at York College comes to a conclusion.

"I've lived and learned, laughed and cried, loved and lost, and I realized I know nothing. Here is to growing up!"
-- Kristen Gaughen

"I believe that only stupid people do not change their mind." -- Boutros Boutros-Ghali
-- Kathleen Kraus

"The best way to predict the future, is to create it." -- Peter F. Drucker
--Mike Sidler

"Follow your destiny, let the gods take your hand. And when they release you, here with me is where you'll land." -- Angela Streeter
-- Sarah Strake

"Life's a dance, you learn as you go, sometimes you lead, sometimes you follow."
-- John Michael Montgomery
-- Denise Scott

To these students, now Alumni of the college, we forward our best wishes to them as they cross the bridge from being students to knowledgeable experts in their disciplines. Fun times with friends and long days and nights of studying and work have finally paid off, and as a result, you have a lot to be proud of. The opening section of this book serves as a reflection upon the times that you have had in this, your last year at York College. As we welcome another freshman class which is beginning to cross their bridge, this section is the beginning of their journey across the bridges of learning, experience and personal growth.

"I close my eyes, only for a moment and the moment's gone. All my dreams, vest before my eyes in curiosity. Dust in the wind, all they are is dust in the wind.

*-- "Dust in the wind" by Kansas
-- Lori Bzdek*

"We regret more the things we don't do then the things we do."

*-- Anonymous
-- Jeri Poppish*

"Keep your ideals high enough to inspire you and low enough to encourage you."

-- Jennifer Ingraham

"Every jumbled pile of person has a thinking part that wonders what the part that isn't thinking isn't thinking of."

-- "John and John" by

They Might Be Giants

-- Mike Patterson

You have had the courage to persevere and to go forward in growth, and this is the section that reflects that. To the students of York College, we applaud you for crossing these bridges of life, and wish that your every horizon be the brightest possible.

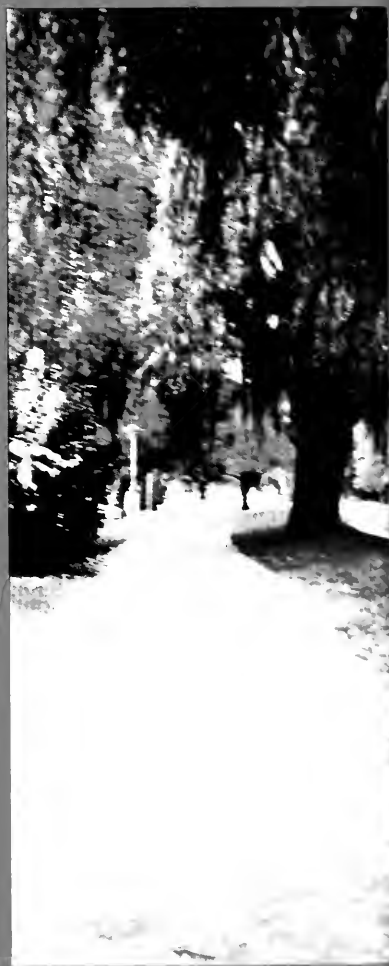

"The winds of change are blowing my friend, and only God knows what will be standing when the dust settles." —Greg Whitesides

"Shoot for the moon and even if you miss you'll be among the stars." -- Ebony Dozier

*"Only those who dare to fail can ever achieve greatness"
-- Unknown

Homes on the Horizon

So close and yet so far away is the feeling of some living on campus. York College housing provides a place to study, a home away from home, where friendships are forged which develop in to lifetime bonds. Behind these doors are locked the memories of times that have past. These years were filled with laughter, tears, and times of joy. People from all over the country and even around the world are brought together in a common unity and strength, supporting one another, as they watch the sun set on one part of their lives and the new horizon to another is brought forth.

Manor North & South

Manor North is a co-ed dorm consisting of a reading and study room, a recreation room, a Director's Office, and laundry facilities. This residence houses 170 students in double and triple occupancy rooms.

Manor South is a bridge between Manor East and West and holds 120 students. The residence is also coed and consists of a Director's office, lounge, recreation room, and laundry facilities.

Manor East & West

Manors East and West each contain three floors of rooms for York College students. Each floor has a bathroom with laundry facilities included. Sixteen students reside on each floor. There also is a lounge on every floor that usually contains a couch and has enough space for studying. Another added feature is a lovely balcony that allows for students to go for some fresh air. The athletic fields are behind Manor East for students who enjoy watching sporting events. Manor West is located in close approximation to the administration building, which is convenient for students who live there.

The Susquehanna Apartments are newly built apartments that house four and six students. These furnished apartments can hold a total of 104 students. They are located directly east of Penn Hall which was formerly an all female dorm. Although these apartments are on campus, the full meal plan is not required. Why? Because each apartment comes with a kitchen! There are RAs on each of the four floors and each floor is coed.

Susquehanna Apartments

Codorus Hall

Codorus Hall was built in 1994. It holds 39 York College students. At that time the males lived on the bottom floor while females resided on the top two. Currently it is an all female dorm. There is one RA, and she is located on the first floor. The rooms are decorated in a loft style. They have two bunkbeds attached to a dresser, and has two desks. There is one bathroom per floor, including three showers and three stalls. Codorus is also located directly east of Penn Hall. Unlike Susquehanna, this dorm requires the full meal plan.

Penn Hall used to be an all female dorm, and just recently changed to a coed dorm by floor. It is a traditional style dormitory fully equipped with a lounge, kitchenette, study room, and laundry facilities. Adjacent to Beard Hall, it houses approximately 130 young men and women, primarily new students or incoming freshman. Outside of the dormitory, there are benches where some students do their work or socialize during nice weather. Penn Hall is a nice place to live and meet many people.

Penn Hall

BEARD HALL

Beard Hall is a coed housing complex here at York College of Pennsylvania. It has a spacious lounge, a recreation center and laundry facilities which makes living in the dorm very convenient. Speaking of convenience, Beard Hall is located next to Penn Hall and is close to the buildings where classes take place. So when an 8:30 am class rolls around, you can wake up at 8:25 am and get there just in time!

SPRINGETTSBURY HALL

Springettsbury Hall is a girls' residence located on Springettsbury Avenue, across the street from the mini-dormitories. The house caters to eighteen girls. In its second year of operation, this house provides a communal kitchen, where the girls can do their cooking, and a washroom for them to do their laundry.

Bridges to the Mini Dorms

Willow/Laurel/Evergreen Halls are known as the mini dorms. These buildings house forty students each in four separate suites of ten students. Each suite features two double and two triple rooms, a central living room, bathroom, and either a balcony or patio. These buildings are a nice place to live and socialize. They are located directly behind Penn Hall.

Willow Hall

Laurel Hall

Evergreen Hall

Tyler Run Apartments

Tyler Run Apartments border Tyler Run Creek on the north side of campus and offer housing for 192 students. The three floors contain coed apartments housing six students each. Two bedrooms and two bathrooms in each apartment, including an expansive living room and kitchen, provide a spacious living area for students. The apartments provide living quarters that are extremely close to the classrooms.

County Club Apartments

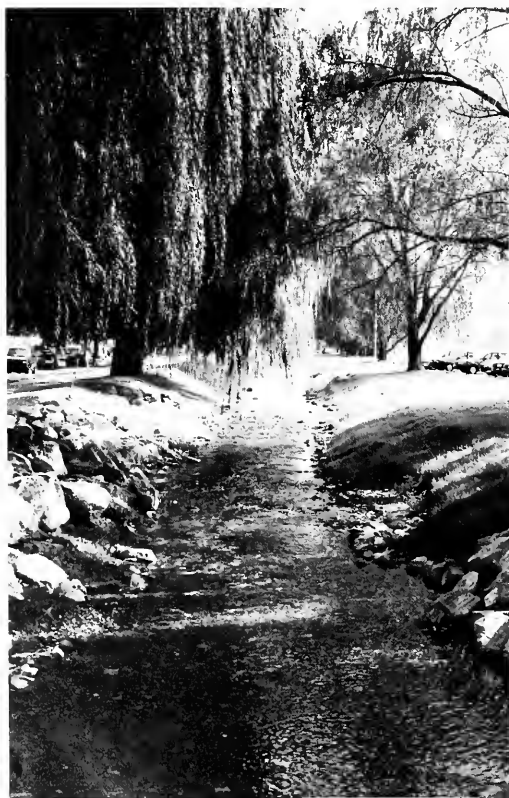

Country Club apartments can house 2-5 students. These apartments are located one-half mile from campus, but are considered "on-campus" housing. This means the requirements for these houses are just like dorms. Each apartment is fully equipped with a kitchen, dining room, storage space, and comfortable furniture. The rooming is the same, two people to a room, and the only difference is that there are no visitation hours, and people who live there do not need the full meal plan. As of this year, each room has its own phone and a house line as well.

Houses

York College has many different housing options. one of the many houses that a large amount of students are unfamiliar with are the Campus ones. Currently there are seven such houses on campus. Two of the houses, Pershing House and Springdale House are coed. The remaining five are just for women and are based on sororities. they are Arnold House, Curry House, Honors House, Kieffer House and the Wenger House.

Buildings on the Horizon

As you walk the York College campus, you are surrounded by these hallowed halls of learning. Many have come before us, many will come after us, but the sights and sounds still remain the same. This year, more was added to continue the tradition of excellence with the first classes to be held in our new building McKay Hall, and the Wolf Academic Center, located on the lower level of Wolf Gymnasium. A stroll in front of the Mac building sometimes is blessed by the most magnificent sounds coming from the recital hall. Campbell Hall is always busy, as it is the meeting place for many between classes. Tropical pleasures are only a short walk away from the fish and greenhouse located in the Life Sciences Building, and the ever present clicking of computer keys and low hum of monitors whirl from the Business Administration building. The tour of York College commences with a bit of quiet time in the Schmidt Library, a workout in the Wolf Gym, dinner in the Student Union Building and of course back to where it all started, Miller Administration Building. Through the halls we have built the bridge to excellence in learning.

Change is in the Air!

1997 marked a year of change at York College. The most noticeable of these was with the acquisition of the Teledyne-McKay building. Renovated and renamed McKay Hall, all of the 12,180 square feet of this building was completely renovated for usage by our engineering program. Benefiting all students by alleviating the problems of overcrowded computer labs, BA-304 was changed from a classroom to a state-of-the-art lab outfitted with multimedia computers. The library has converted one of its classrooms, L-11, into a computer classroom. When work is over, and it is time to have fun, look no further than to the new and improved Student Union building. Organizational offices were created and most organizations were moved to different offices. Constructed from existing office space was a larger, more centrally located office for security and new, more decorative floor tiles were added to create a modern, uplifting look to the Student Union Building.

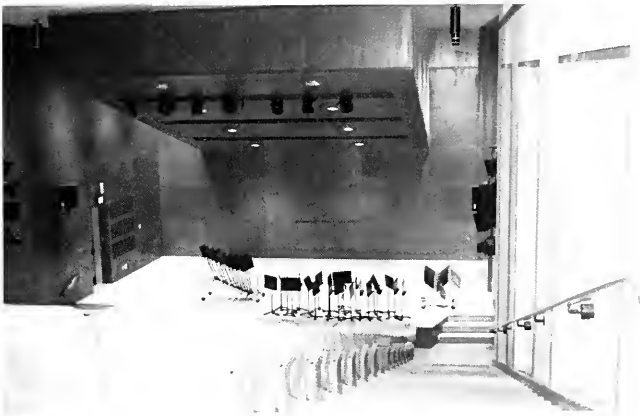

McKay Hall

The newest edition to York College is McKay Hall. The building itself was acquired in Spring 1996 and renovated for the department of Mechanical Engineering faculty. This 12,180 square foot facility located on Grantley Ave., contains the department faculty offices, four engineering labs, a general office and classrooms. One can find the Thermo-Fluids lab, Machine Shop, M.E. Design lab/Fabrication area, Mechatronics Lab, and CAD (Computer Aided Design) area inside this new educational facility. It is not only a new addition to the Mechanical Engineering department, but an addition to the college as a whole.

MAC Building

The MAC Building was built in 1994, which makes it a fairly new building. Since this building is new, it is air-conditioned which is great in the hot weather. Students of all majors can use the general-purpose classrooms and its small computer lab; however its main purpose is to house the music, art, and speech communication departments. Two art galleries, two television studios and a recital hall reside in the MAC building. The building has 60,000 square feet and one elevator to service its four floors.

Melvin H. Campbell Hall

Housing lecture halls, science laboratories, a language laboratory, general purpose classrooms, and a lounge which offers the French Quarter Coffee Cart, Campbell Hall is the middle of the academic buildings. It offers three floors of classrooms and the Chemistry Department office. Campbell Hall provides the main social gathering place for students between classes.

Schmidt Library

Schmidt Library offers students the latest advancements in information technology. YorCat, the online catalog, provides access to all 176,000 books, periodical indexing services, the Internet, and other reference sources. The main locations are Circulation, Reference, Periodicals, and Audio Visual Services. Interlibrary Loan is also offered to provide books and periodicals from other academic institutions. The Lincoln Seminar Room, Archives, and the Special Collections Room are also located in the library.

Business Administration Center

The Business Administration Center contains the main academic computer center, classrooms, faculty offices, and the Gladfilter Telecommunication Center. The academic computer center, or the Information Resources Department is the primary source for students to meet their computing needs. It features a total of eight computer labs with 150 computers. Currently the labs are running on Pentium 120/166 processors using the Windows 95 environment and the Microsoft Office Suite. The center is using an IBM AS/400 mainframe with approximately 100 users attached to it. There are over 450 different software applications that any student can use. In the fall of 1997, a campus wide network was implemented for students in dormitories allowing network access. This network is supported by a variety of Sun, PC, and VAX servers. Internet access is also available to all students through the World Wide Web sites, electronic mail and other avenues that allow a bridge to the world.

Life Science Building

This building consists of a theater on the lower level, 10 laboratories, classrooms, faculty offices, the greenhouse, and conference rooms. The Life Science Building was completed in 1974 and has three levels. Down one hallway are fish and other specimens from the sea, collected from various science trips. It is definitely a hallway to behold.

Wolf Gymnasium

The Wolf Gymnasium serves many student needs. The gymnasium has a fitness center, which contains many apparatuses that help build and maintain strength. A branch of the fitness center is the cardiovascular room that helps build endurance and stamina via exercise bikes, treadmills, and Nordic tracks. Also available in the Wolf Gym are two gymnasiums and an auditorium that can serve a wide range of functions including intramural competitions, recreation, as well as a forum for guest presentations and orientations. Also, you can take a splash in the Spartan pool, which is heated and guarded. Newly designed for the fall of 1997, is the Wolf Academic Center (WAC). Located in the lower level of the Wolf Gymnasium, space is provided for general classroom, faculty offices and the Learning Center all added to improve and accommodate a wide range of student and faculty needs. This is just one of many areas that York College is continuing to expand to meet educational needs of the future.

Ray A. Miller Administration Building

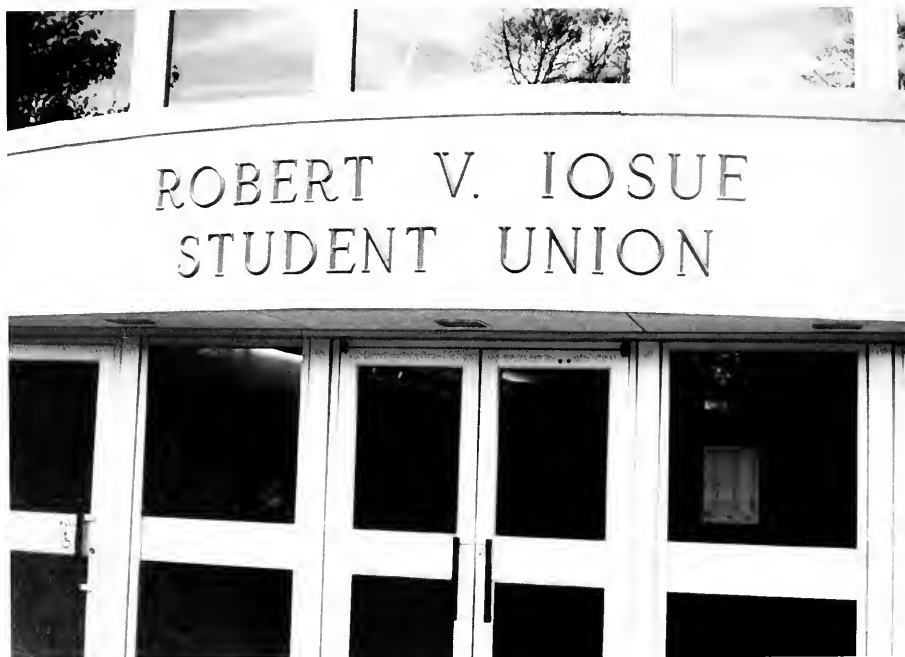

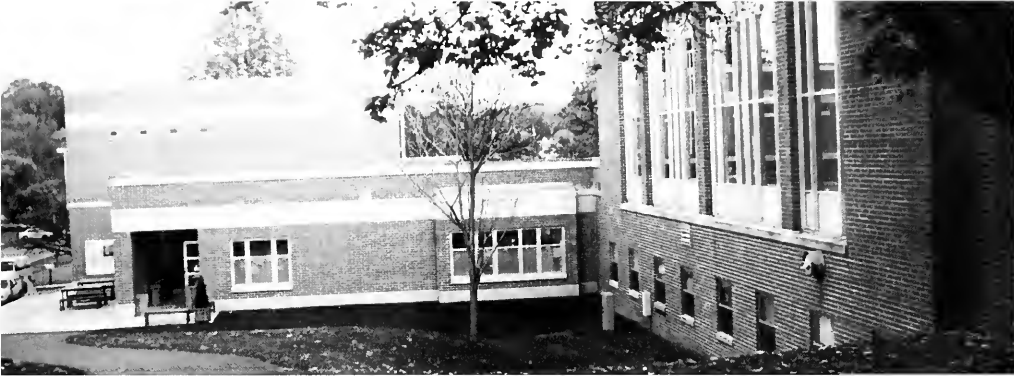

The Ray A. Miller Administration Building, located along Country Club Road, may be the most vital building of all the ones located on campus. It contains everything a student needs, besides classrooms, to begin and end his/her college career. It contains Admissions, the Records Office, and everything in between. One will find the President's Office, Academic Affairs, Student Affairs, Administrative Computer Center, Advancement, and Business Affairs. One can borrow money through the Financial Aid or pay for classes at the Business Affairs window. Drop a class or add a class...it's all possible at the Ray A. Miller Administration Building.

Student Union

The Robert V. Iosue Student Union is the center of activity at York College of Pennsylvania. If an activity does not occur here, it is probably planned here. This is because it houses the offices for Counseling Services, Career Services, Student Senate, WVYC FM 88 Radio Station, Horizon Yearbook, Spartan Newspaper, Health Center, and various other student organizations. Johnson Dining Hall and the Sparts Den, which were remodeled last year, are also found in the Student Union. When these renovations took place the bookstore and convenience center were also added to this building. It is a huge center with lots of activity going on all day long.

Instructing Yo

ur Horizons

Crossing the Bridge of Farewell

The 1997-1998 year brought with it the passing of three of York College's dearest friends. Dr. William A. DeMeester, Dean of Academic Affairs at York College from 1972 until his retirement in 1993, and part-time executive director for the York College's president, suffered a heart attack in September 1997. Dr. Ray A. Miller, President of York Junior College and then York College from 1958 to 1976, departed in mid-November 1997. Dr. Miller guided York Junior College through its initial accreditation by the Middle States Association, orchestrated the move from the downtown campus to Country Club Road, and achieved the institution's elevation to four-year status. Dr. Benjamin McKulik, associate professor of literature at York College for a great number of years, passed on in late December.

Dr. DeMeester characterized his time at York College by preceding a new image. He was instrumental in transforming the school from a two-year into a four-year institution. Under Dr. DeMeester's leadership, the small, private liberal arts college's reputation grew; its curriculum widened and student body became more select.

Dr. Miller also served York College during the transition from a two-year to four-year establishment. In control of the financial affairs of the college, he involved himself in making sure the college would be able to meet its financial obligations during a time of spiraling inflation. His efforts resulted in tuition well below prices of other private institutions. He also concerned himself with keeping the college in tune with the ever advancing world and changes in society.

Dr. McKulik's academic interests covered a wide spectrum with his concentration in literary interests, from the ancient to the modern. He traveled widely throughout Europe with his wife, gaining inspiration for both his poetry and academic interests. He actually spent time teaching literature at the University of Regensburg in West Germany, before coming to York. At York, he established a great intimacy with his students, who were wildly enthusiastic about him.

Dear Graduates:

The time has come for us to say farewell, but certainly not good-bye.

Your undergraduate college days have ended, and you are now embarking on the next phases of your lives and careers. Many opportunities and challenges await you, and you will need to draw upon all you have learned, inside and outside the classroom, to make the most of your future.

Although you are on the verge of momentous changes, York College will strive to continue, as in your time on campus, to provide high quality educational opportunities to help students prepare for the future. We shall grow and evolve, but always will remain true to our mission of excellence and value in higher education.

I urge you to stay in touch with each other and to update the Alumni Office and your academic department on your activities as the years pass. The York College community is close and friendly, and you will always be part of it, if you choose to include us in your life.

Best wishes and good luck!

Sincerely,

George W. Waldner

Finishing the Journey

The End of the Bridge

York College dismissed the Class of 1998 in magnificent fashion in mid-May. A letter by Thomas R. Pickering addressed the class at Commencement. Pickering received the honorary degree Doctor of Laws from York College President Dr. George W. Waldner. Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs, Pickering holds the personal rank of Career Ambassador which is the highest in the United States Foreign Service.

Dr. Waldner also awarded the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters to George L. Small. As a business leader, Small was active in both regional and national organizations related to the grocery products distribution industry while acting president of the family firm, P. A. & Small Company.

George A. Shorb received the Distinguished Alumnus Award at graduation. Shorb, who graduated in 1971, received two Purple Hearts while in the United States army, serving with the 1st Infantry Division in Vietnam. His career started in the paper business as a sales representative for P. H. Glatfelter Company and moved to the Atlantic Paper Company, in Baltimore, in 1976 as Vice President of Sales. He became President of the company in 1985 and continues in that position today. However, he still remains active in various York organizations including the Chairman of the York Catholic High School Board of Directors and as the chair of the committee to select a new Principal, among other local organizations. He is also a member of the York College Sports Hall of Fame in recognition of outstanding accomplishments in both soccer and golf.

At graduation the Keystone Brass Quintet opened the ceremony with the Processional and the Invocation was heralded by Fr. Carl Tancredi.

Fifteen Masters of Business Administration were awarded to extremely-deserving students, beyond the Bachelor's Degree: three students received the Master of Science in Human Organization Science distinction. One hundred five students received Bachelor of Arts degrees; four hundred thirty-nine received the Bachelor of Science diploma. An Associate of Arts was awarded and 35 Associate of Science degrees were awarded. Separate departmental recognitions followed the awarding of diplomas in more concentrated areas of study to most-honored students. The final section of the ceremony was the awarding of 1998 Special Recognition awards which are specific and sponsored by a respective organization.

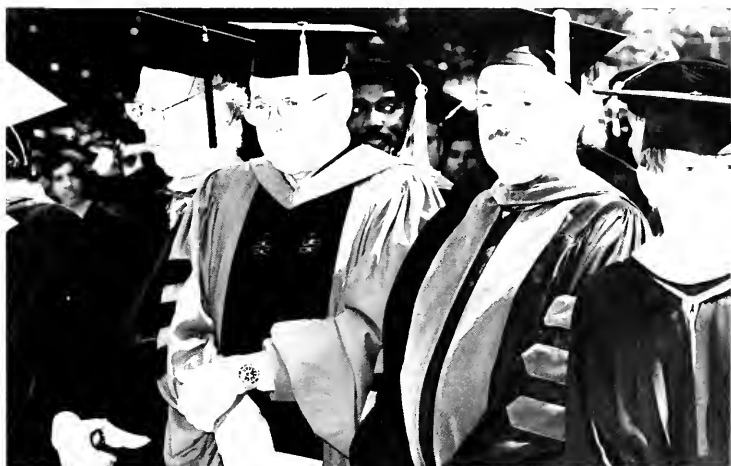

On the Nursing Horizon.....

Interpretation of the Pin

Our insignia is a circle emerging above the logos of York College of Pennsylvania: "sevire est vivere," which means "to serve is to live." The circle represents holistic humanity. Through study we seek to provide nursing services to all humanity: individuals, families, and communities.

In the center of the circle is a lamp with a flame, lighting the path to new knowledge; extending our faith in God, self, and others; and energizing courage to surmount exigencies of life. The flame exemplifies vigilance; first, over the well being of our clients and secondly over self, that our actions not belie our ideals.

Near the lamp is a white rose topping a four leafed stem. The four leaves illustrate four years of study, leading to the degree of bachelor of science with a major in nursing. The white rose, a symbol of beauty, relates our lives to historical and cultural events of the past and the future, as we participate in the stream of life in "historical York," the White Rose City.

The embossed outer edge of the circle exemplifies boundaries in life experiences which enable the ordering or priorities as we strive to fulfill our professional commitment that the "ideal shall become the real."

What is success?

*To laugh often and much;
To win the respect of intelligent people
and the affection of children;
To earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal
of false friends;
To appreciate beauty;
To find the best in others;
To leave the world a little bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch, or a redeemed
social condition;
To know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived;
That is to have succeeded.*

Bridges to the Future

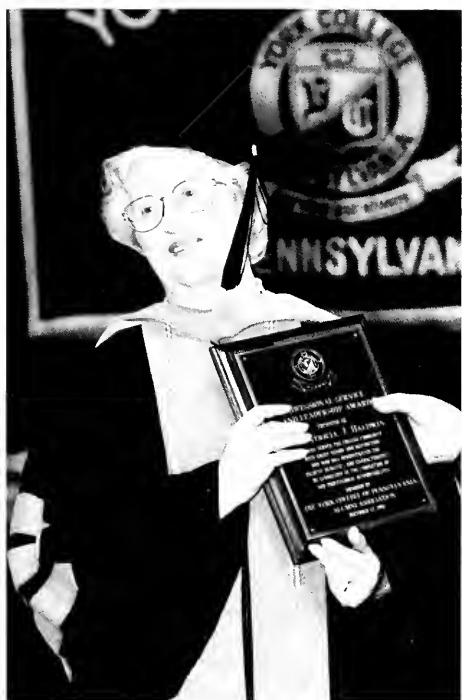

York waved goodbye to a number of members of the senior class who graduated in December 1997 and wished them the best of luck in their future endeavors and lives. Three hundred twenty-six students crossed the momentous ritual of graduation thereby creating a bridge to the next horizon.

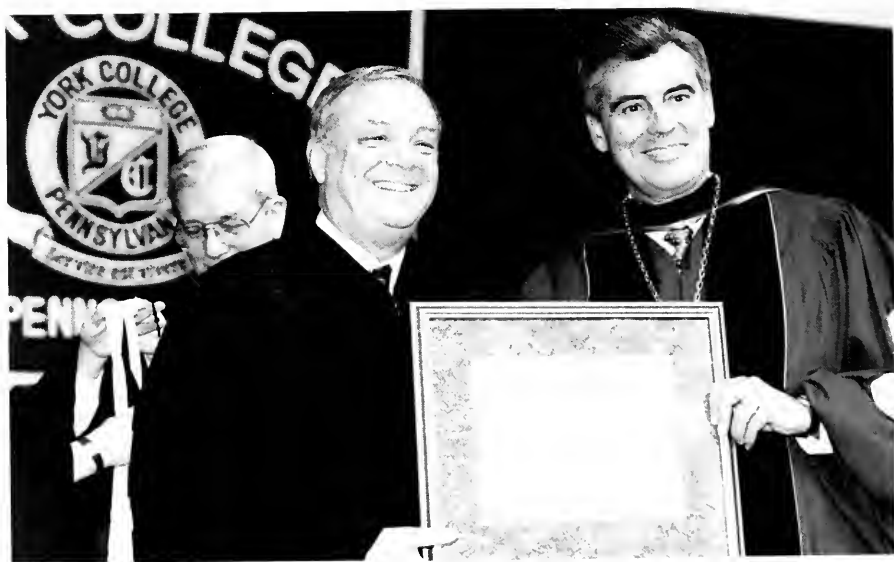

Two hundred twenty-three graduating students achieved the mark gaining a Bachelor's degree in the Sciences which maintained the overwhelming majority of the graduating class. Fifty-six students gained a Bachelor's degree in the Arts while twenty-two received Masters of Business Administration degrees and the remaining twenty-five earned Associates degrees.

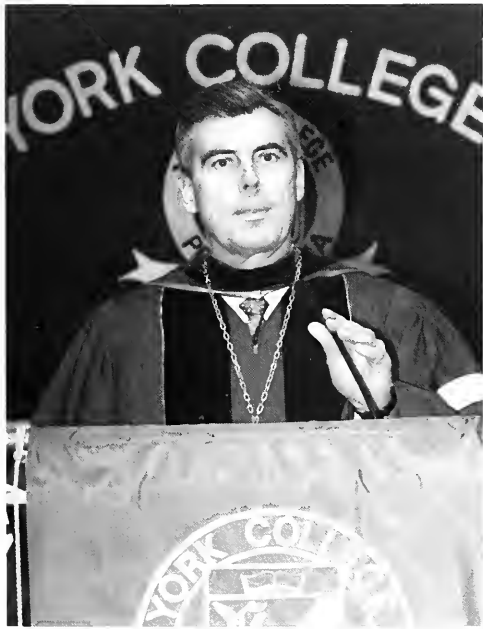

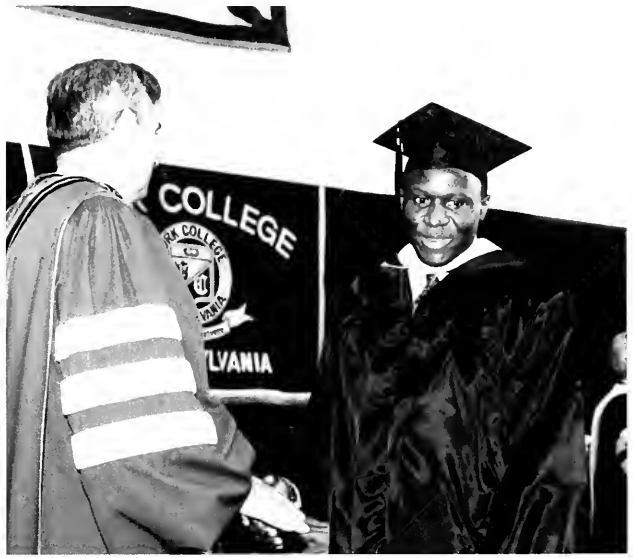

Mr. David Rusk, who York bestowed an Honorary Degree, Doctor of Laws, from Dr. George W. Waldner, addressed the graduating class following the presentation of degrees. Rusk is a distinguished author, political leader, urban specialist, and valued advisor on regional development to the York area.

Professor Chris Meisenhelter was the student-selected faculty speaker who is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Business. Meisenhelter has helped business students get a jump on their careers with his Operations Management course which includes mentoring from the York community's business leaders.

Leadership is apparent on and off the court. Senior co-captain Johnny Baer reflects on the determination and dedication that held the men's basketball team together. "Early in the season, a foot injury to junior center Dave Martins caused the team to change game strategy away from a strong interior front." Forced to focus on a guard-oriented team, the team relied on three-point shooting from key players Johnny Baer and Jason Sauerbaugh. Senior Jounny Baer led the team recording 490 points and averaging 19.6 points per game. He set school records by making 98 three-pointers, shooting 92.1% from the free-throw line. Jason Sauerbaugh led the team with 146 assists and averaged 35.6 minutes played per game.

Seniors proved to be leading assets to the 1997-98 season. Johnny Baer led the team as a member of the 1st team All Conference and Roanoke All-Tournament Team.

Brent Fortuny was a leader on the floor. He played hard and is known for contributing his talents as a defender.

Ed Black displayed character as he was the first to stand up and cheer on the sidelines and sparkled as he performed on the court.

Robert Powell, a tremendous athlete, "came to battle" everynight as he rebounded, blocked, scored, and defended for the team. His great physical ability gained him recognition as the player who could wow the crowd as he dunked and slammed the ball with agility. Powell averaged 10.3 points per game.

Other contributors were responsible for the strength of the team. Described by Johnny Baer, Jason Sauerbaugh was a "tough competitor. Sauerbaugh was a great penetrator and passer. We were deemed 'Fire and Ice' by a local newspaper last season, and it is an appropriate representation of our personalities on the court."

Dann Price was a first year player who was forced to step up to fill Martins' vacancy. A great rebounder, Price contributed a tremendous performance to the season and was expected to rise as an upcoming star in the future.

Mike May was the key to playing well at the end of the season. His confidence grew as the season developed and he contributed major points to the team.

As captain, Johnny Baer comments to the fans of York College. "I have played at two colleges and traveled to many schools. York College gave us the best home court advantage. The students made it tough for other teams to come in and play."

Baer also reflects on the 1998 season. "Despite the injuries, I am proud of the way we fought every night. They were low points in the season where we could have 'packed in' but we didn't. I'm proud of the heart the team showed and the character of each one of those guys."

S B S I T C E R

"We consider Jen to be our big sister. We could approach her about any subject, yet she possessed an authority that earned our respect," says junior Ceire McGuire, when asked to describe the squad's relationship with head coach Jen Frey. A 1995 graduate from YCP, Jen successfully transformed the cheerleading squad into a well-respected, efficient organization. She took charge of this squad from the first moment they met at summer camp at Rutgers University in mid-August. Jen Frey possessed the ability to organize and mold a team that possessed tremendous potential and a will to perform to the best of their ability.

As the new head coach, Jen boosted the training regimen of their daily three-hour workouts. Mixed with aerobics to build endurance, plyometrics to strengthen stunting ability, and drills to sharpen motions, Jen encouraged each member to perform to the best of their ability, yet created a relaxed, comfortable atmosphere.

The new head coach organized many events for the cheerleaders to raise funds for future investments. They participated in a promotional endeavor for Fetish perfume at the West Manchester Mall and volunteered to "walk for life" at a three mile course to raise money and awareness of the A-T disease.

Jen further encouraged team unity by coordinating group outings to celebrate Christmas and the end of a successful cheerleading season. By spending so many hours together in the gym, the squad members grew to be close friends, and this friendship between members was apparent on the court.

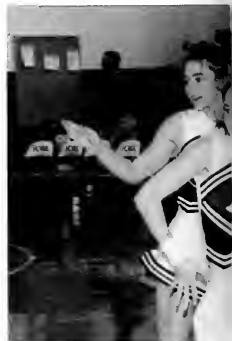

The cheerleading squad was known for high-level stunting ability at the Division III level. The crowd raved over the diamond head stunt, the table top pyramid, where Casie Wyrick stood atop the tower and chanted, "YMCA!" to the Jock Jams music mix, and the basket toss, where Lori Guida was launched so high, she almost hit the ceiling lights.

The team attributes the boost in stunting ability to volunteer coach John Bliss. He is the man credited with the technical knowledge and experience that launched the caliber of stunting difficulty.

The season came to a bittersweet ending as Jen announced her resignation as head coach, due to an opportunity to relocate and embark on an exciting marketing career. It was terribly difficult for Jen to make the decision to leave the members of the team she was so proud of, but the squad members realized that this career opportunity was too special for her to pass. Knowing it was her last game as coach, the final game on Senior Day against Mary Washington College was the most emotional game of the season. The halftime show was packed with partner stunts, pyramids, and transitions that the team perfected through the season. York College fans still comment on memories of the energetic show. The squad gave their best performance in honor of their coach, Jen Frey.

The last game of the season was special to head coach Jen Frey and her cheerleaders. Jen receives a hug from Lori Guida, as Lisa Clarke, Casie Wyrick, and Cortnie Amelotte applaud a successful season.

Casie Wyrick stands atop the table top pyramid, leading the crowd to participate in the YMCA chant during the half-time show.

Having A Ball

The York College of Pennsylvania women's basketball team faced a number of obstacles this season. They had to adapt to a new coaching philosophy and system, among them. Several months passed before they were able to put it all together. Six veterans, six freshman, and one transfer student experienced a year of growing pains and hard lessons; the team matured thoroughly through the season.

By February, in the last quarter of the season, the team had found the secret and gelled; they upset top conference teams Gallaudet, St. Mary's and Mary Washington. Each team was in first place at the time.

The team graduates one senior, Tina Litz, who averaged 5.9 points and 3.4 rebounds, coming off the bench. All five starters will return next year, including Amy Anderson (16.6 points, 8.8 rebounds) and Katie Parise (13.4 points, 3.6 assists). Amy received the Capital Athletic Conference Rookie of the Year award and made first team All-Conference. Katie Parise received a Division III National Team of the Week honor, during February 16-22. Tera Trimmer, another returning player, was on the Gettysburg Tournament Team in early January. Brooke Davis, Val Speakman, Tera Trimmer, Veronica Byrne, and several other role players return next season, also.

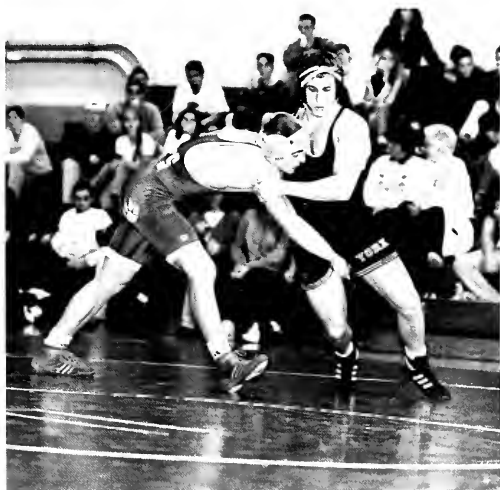

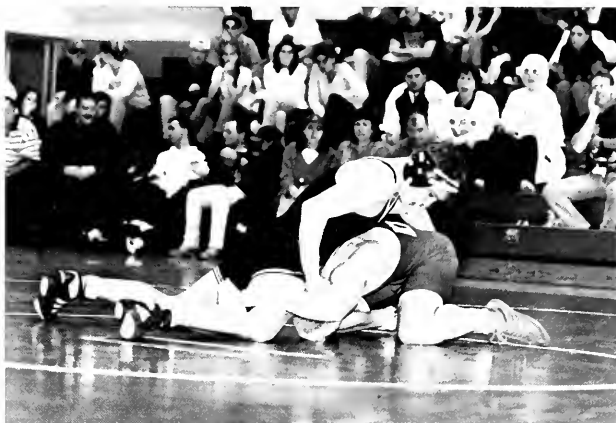

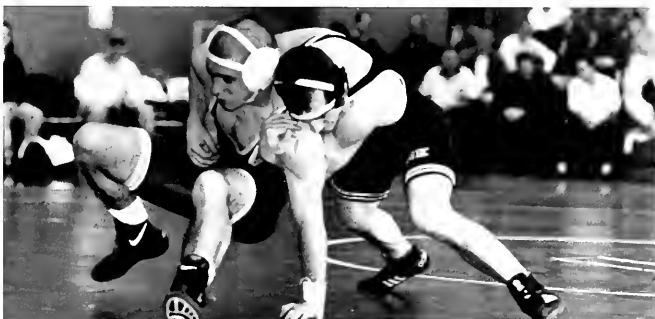

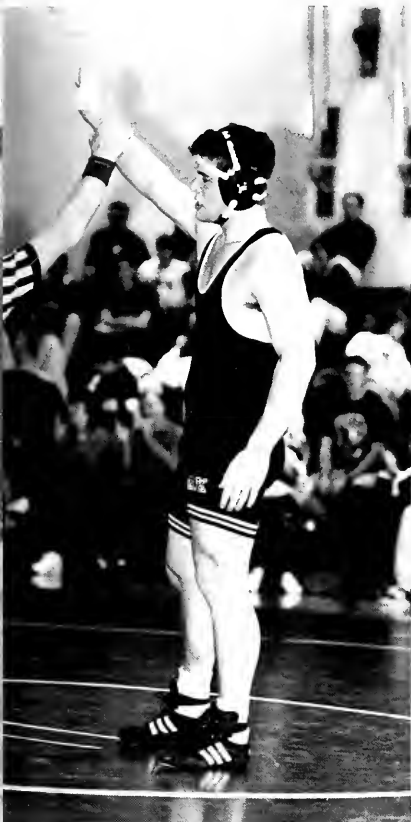

On The

Wrestling their way to a new Horizon, the Spartan's finished their season with a 11-8 record. The MVP this year was Dan Garner. Garner was named to the NCAA Division III Academic All American Team for the 3rd consecutive year and was York College's 15th Academic All American. All metro members are Dave Kennedy (2nd), Chris Ream (2nd), Dan Garner (2nd) and Ken Pyle (2nd). Throughout it all, they have wrestled a very competitive schedule competing against I Division I team, 2 Division II teams, 8 Division III schools as ranked in the nation. At the NCAA Division III National Duals held at Lycoming College, York competed in an invitation only tournament against 14 other teams nationally ranked. At the National tournament in Waterloo, IA, Dave Kennedy was 2-2, Garner was 10-2 and Reame 0-2.

Wrestling Horizon

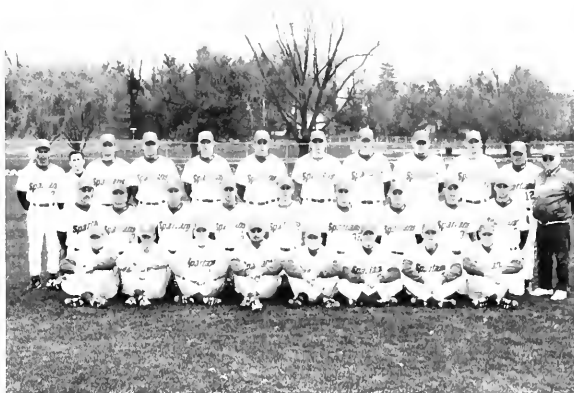

Softball

Tossing towards the Horizon, the Spartan's softball squad had a solid second half of the season in 1997 after starting out the season 0-7. The 12-14 record was deceiving as York lost six one-run decisions. This year's MVP was Freshman Lisa Brown. Lead by Head Coach Andy Berryman in his first season of leading the team, the Spartans placed second in the CAC during the regular season. They also placed three players on the first team All-CAC squad and three on the second team. Jeanette Tracy, Stacy Chandler and Jessica Payne represented the Spartans on the first team while Katie Parise, Jen Hane, and Steph Barnes earned second team recognition.

Baseball

Lead by Head Coach Paul Saikia and Assistant Coach Pete Rossi, the Spartan's baseball team has shown their excellence in pitching and hitting yet again. This year finished a very impressive season where the Spartans found themselves with a 152-104 record over the last seven seasons including a school-record 28 wins in 1991. The team MVP was Senior Aaron Myers. The Spartans have won two CAC titles in addition to making the NCAA Tournament in four of the last seven seasons.

Simply The Best !

Running against the Horizon, the ycp women's track and field team has had a great year. The MVP of this year's team was Jen Myers, a senior. The team finished the season with a Duel meet record of 1-1 and a CAC record of 3rd at Championships which were held at Mary Washington. Katie Regar was a 1st team all CAC member, competing in discus. She broke her own personal record several times during the season and achieved a conference record. On the 2nd Team All CAC team members were Jen Myers, Stacey McCauslin, Megan Damers and Sue Walker for the 1600 relay.

At Franklin & Marshall University, Susie DeGour breaks the current York College long jump record.

Track and Field Women's Team

Running the 110M hurdles, Megan Dammers is intent on executing the proper footwork to achieve her fastest time.

Givin It All They Got

The York College Mens Track and Field squad exhibited excellence in the sport by finishing with a record of 19-17. The 29 member team and coached by Eric Hue, competed in a variety of events including: sprints, relays, long jump, pole vault, hurdles, discus, decathlon besides many more. On the leader board was senior Robert Powell who placed first in the CACs in the 100 meter and 200 meter dash as well as the long jump. Robert, for his accomplishments was named MVP of the Meet, for his conference record setting runs. Steven Blasi, also a senior, earned the distinguishing honor of MVP of the YCP team for his efforts in the 5 K and 10 K long distance running. Other players who excelled included Andy Kochie, who this year tied his own college record in hurdles as well as Ben Hatt who received high honors in his great performance in pole vault. The outstanding drive of the entire team made the successful season possible.

Crossing Bridges. . . . Following Trails

When it comes to cross country, the Spartan Men's and Women's team can't be beat. Both the men's and women's team are led by head coach Rich Achtzehn. As for the men's team, the Spartans finished third in the CAC last season. Three members participated in the 1997 NCAA Division III Mideast Regional at Dickinson College, seniors Steve Blasi and Steve Schilling teamed with freshman Tom Gentzler to represent York at the regional. The York College men's cross country squad finished fifth at the CAC Championships at Goucher College.

The Women's Cross Country team completed an outstanding season with a trip to the NCAA Division III Mideast Regional at Dickinson College. The Spartans finished an impressive 15th out of 43 teams competing in event. The York College women's cross country squad performed well at this weekend's Capital Athletic Conference Championships at Goucher College.

The Lady Spartans finished second behind champion Mary Washington. The team's captains are team MVP Julie Lockard and senior co-captain Jennifer Meyers.

Field Hockey

'97

The York College Field Hockey Team overachieved in 1997. Entering the season, the Spartans were wondering how they were going to replace their two leading scorers from 1996. They got their answer as they went 11-7 and finished second in the CAC. The Spartans relied on a stingy defense early in the season as York started the season with eight wins in their first ten games. Head coach Vicki Sutton said in the preseason that they strength of the team would be defense, and it was for the 1997 campaign. The defense allowed 1.4 goals per game for the year. Lauren Redmond, the team MVP, is the only Spartan who will not be returning to the field next year. Goaltender Judy Frankel recorded six shutouts and recorded a save percentage of .781. The junior has 11 career shutouts, second on the Spartan list. Looking back on the season, Coach Sutton prefers to accentuate the positive of the season. "We did have some disappointing losses but our team showed great character throughout the year."

On the Fairway . . .

1998 was definatly a year that the Spartan Golf team performed up to par and better than expected. Out on the fairway, the Spartans swung towards an excellent season finishing 5th in District II and just missed being selected to the NCAA Championship. They finished the season with a record of 97-27-2. This year's team was led by Shawn Kint, the team's most valuable player who was also selected for the NCAA Championship held at Jekyll Island where he shot 79, 85, 74 for a 313 score.

Leading the team along with Kint was Jon Thornton and both were named All-District II. The other regular starters were Bill Brennan, Travis Hoffman, and Damien Lynch.

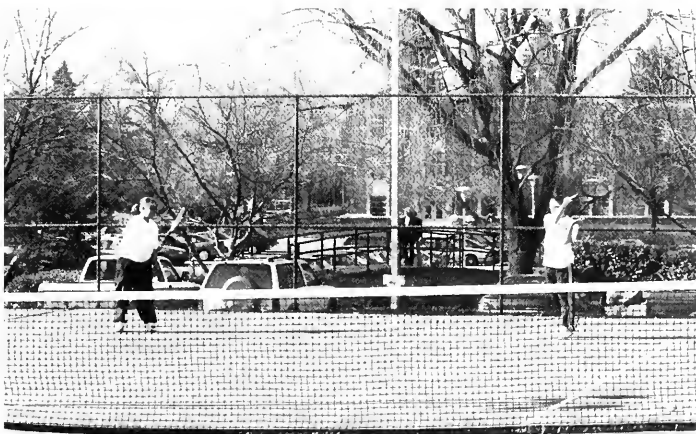

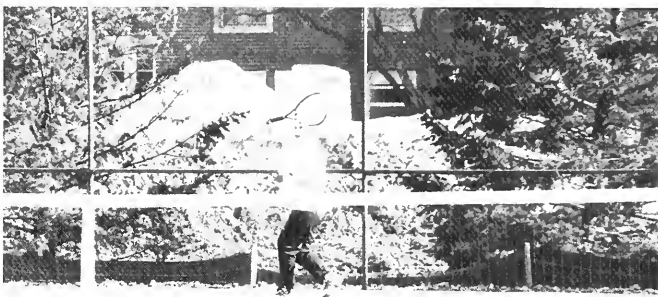

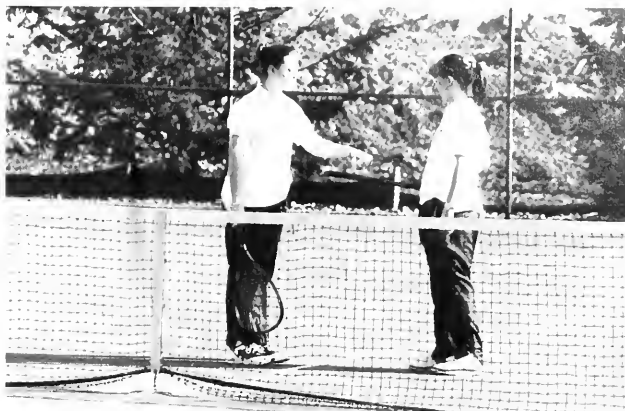

40 - Love !

Through hard work, teamwork and determination, Spartans ended their season with a 3-5 record and will return four of the starting six for next year. At the Capital Athletic Conference championships held at Salisbury State University, the women's tennis team finished fifth. The team captain was Caryn Capozzi and the team MVP was Freshman Evelyn Jones. Instructing the team to excellence was the Head Coach, Henry Schaefer as well as Assistant Coach Betsy Witman.

40 - Love !

Hard work and hard struggles presents itself into a team of winners for this year's men's tennis team. Lead by Head coach Henry Schaefer and Assistant Coach Betsy Witman, a new attitude was brought to the tennis program and began to turn the Spartan fortunes around. This year, York finished at a 4-6 record. The team MVP was DB Dellinger who helped the team tremendously. The team went on to compete in the 1998 Capital Athletic Conference men's tennis championships at Salisbury State finishing in sixth place proving that yet again Spartans can cross that bridge to excellence one step at a time.

Volleyball

The women's volleyball team ended the season exceptionally well. They finished fifth in the region, and 25-8 overall. They defeated Catholic, Gallaudet, Goucher, and Marymount, while falling to Mary Washington and Salisbury. Jess Elicker and Jill Crouse made CAC first team for the season; Alexa Harrington was named to the second team.

The team took first place at the Franklin and Marshall tournament; finished in the first place gold division of the Juniata Classic; in the CAC playoffs, York defeated Marymount in the first round and went on to host Salisbury in the championship game. York beat Salisbury in three games to win their first CAC title.

After gaining a bid to the NCAA tournament, they traveled to Juniata and there lost to Franklin and Marshall in the first round.

Kickin It Around !

The 30 members of the York college men's soccer team kicked around alot of hard work and determination this year to achieve a wonderful year of success they can be proud of. Four players were named to the 1997 All-Capital Athletic Conference Men's Soccer squad. Chris Showers and Eric York were named to the first team All-CAC and on the second team by Forward Michael Biazzo and goaltender Greg Chifulini. Tying the school record established in 1991, the Spartans finished the season with 11 wins. York finished third in the conference behind champion, Mary Washington and runner-up, Salisbury State. The Head Coach was Pat Massa and the MVP was Senior Al Mazzoni.

Horizon Kicks

Kicking it around, the Spartans show that they are definatly a force to be reckoned with when it comes to women's soccer. The Spartans' finished 1997 8-10 and 1-5 in the Capital Athletic Conference. Led by Head Coach Vicki Sterner, the Spartans' team was made up of 14 freshmen, five sophomores, four juniors, and no seniors. Justine Rice and Lisa Algeier were this year's captains. Karen Wagner received rookie-of-the-year honors for the Spartans. The MVP was Sophomore Erin Burke.

Splashing Around

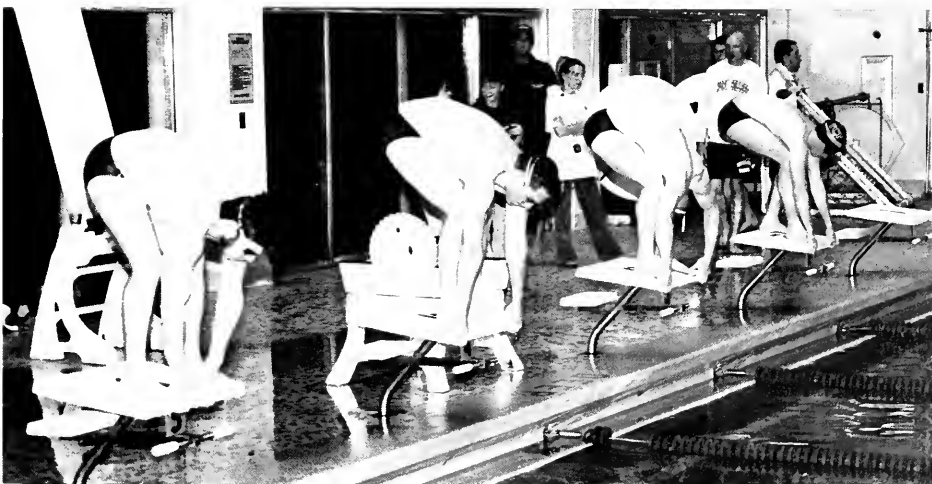

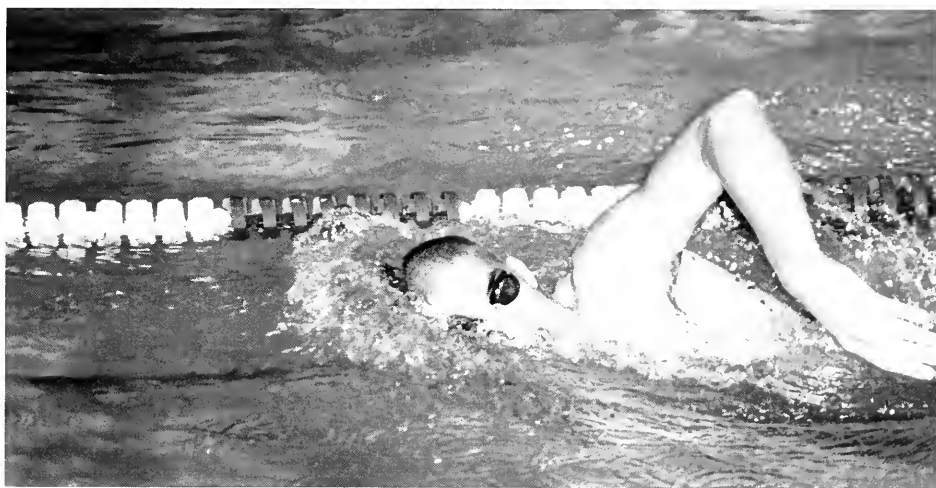

This year's men's swimming team broke some long-standing records and ended quite well at the Capital Athletic Conference championships, held at Mary Washington College. Terry Kelly, a junior and the team MVP, broke the 100 meter breast stroke record, which had stood since 1979, by over half a second. Kelly also finished third at the CACs in the 50 meter freestyle; fourth in the 100 meter breaststroke; seventh in the 100 meter freestyle. Erik Gerber, also a junior, finished eleventh in the 100 meter butterfly. Kevin Jones, a freshman, finished ninth in the 100 meter butterfly, sixth in the 100 meter backstroke, and fifth in the 200m backstroke at Mary Washington. Ryan O'Hagan placed ninth in the 400 meter individual medley and fourth in the 50 meter freestyle event. Jeremy Scott, also a freshman, ended twelfth in the 100 meter breaststroke. Todd Whitehead placed twelfth in the 100 meter backstroke and sixth in the 200 meter backstroke.

The team surpassed two team relay records. In the 200 meter medley relay, Jones, O'Hagan, Scott, and Kelly beat the year-old record by over half a second. Jones, Kelly, Gerber, and O'Hagan demolished the year-old record in the 400 meter medley relay by about a second at the CACs. The team only loses two members to graduation: Todd Whitehead and Ryan Andresen.

York College swimming ended with the highest finish in the history of the league despite taking the smallest team they have ever taken. They placed fifth of seven teams.

Water, Water Everywhere !

The York College women's swim team finished with a record of 1-12, overall, and went 1-5 in the Capital Athletic Conference. They finished eighth at the CAC Championships at Mary Washington College with a total of 72 points.

The teams top individual finisher at the Championships was freshman Sarah Peterson. Peterson, the team MVP, finished in eleventh place in the 100 butterfly with a time of 1:10.99. Other high finishers were sophomore Estelle Hart, finishing twelfth in the 400 individual medley (5:49.39), and freshman, Stephanie Grossman, who finished twelfth in the 200 butterfly (2:54.10).

Senate

Senators take on Disney World. From L to R: Secretary Rachel Repp, Parliamentarian Andrew Paxton, President Scott Russomanno, Treasurer Susan Wajszczuk

The foundations of all student organizations lies within the student senate. Representing every student from freshman to graduate students, the senate helps to improve college life for all students. This is done by working hand in hand with administration, various campus organizations and the community in order to bring positive change to light.

Members of senate enjoy not only helping others, but also form close bonds and friendships that are evident through their various activities such as the Senate sponsored AIDS Walk, a fundraiser which also promoted AIDS awareness, Adopt-a-House, Adopt-a-Block program, and many others.

CAB

Bored? Wanna have some fun? That's what CAB or Campus Activities Board is all about. CAB is responsible for keeping the spirit of YCP's students high by trying to provide enjoyable entertainment for all. The highlight of the year was the CAB sponsored concert featuring Smashmouth, Third Eye Blind and Fat. We rocked and rolled the campus to songs such as 'Walkin' On The Sun' and 'Semi-Charmed Life' for hours. Throughout the year, we watched such movies as Jerry Maguire, Men In Black, Air Force One, and many more. Cash Bingo in Buechel Lounge was always fun. Soarts Events of various singers, and entertainers always provided a good time all year long.

For the student that wants something different and wants to have a bit of fun at the same time, they join an organization.

York college has over 60 organizations ranging from social, service, culturally orientated, and ones that are for specific majors.

Within the following pages are just some of what York College is all about.

May The Best Man Win !

Nineteen different organizations presented their men in a competition of not only beauty, but also talent too as these men donned swimwear for the swimwear competition. showed all of us their hidden talents that included such things as singing, playing piano and drums, and even some magic. There was a question and answer session and of course a formal wear part of the competition. Victoria Schmidt was the hostess of this prestigious event, and Steve Berlen representing the Women's Union was crowned Mr. YCP with Nick Pierdomenico, representing the senate as first runner up.

Halloween Happenings are In The Air !

What Spring is all about !

Sponsored by CAB, Spring Weekend is a combination of fun and festivities that are designed for all students to relax and welcome spring in all its glory. The weekend started out with a Drive-in-Movie, 'Contact' which was unfortunately moved to the Gym. Cotton candy was made by the members of CAB in the lobby of the Student Union and the formal that night seemed to be the only thing that wasn't rained out. Later there was a concert by PUSH, and organizational tables and novelties were set up in Gym B while the Super Slide, Obstacle Course, and Rocky Mountain Climb were set up in Gym A. Outside Gym A in the lobby was the Virtual Reality Simulator from Paramount Studios.

Not only was this weekend a fun one, but York College was able to help the community out too. The 16th Annual Volleyball Marathon benefitting the National Kidney Foundation of York raised more than $13,000 through the participation of 45 teams made up of different fraternities, sororities, organizations, and places in the community.

Why Not Be Formal?

Dancing the night away wearing your best and having a blast. That's what having a formal is all about! Held at the Valencia Ballroom adorned with balloons, decorations and a dj, around 250 people attended the semiannual event. Both formals lived up to their themes as the Fall formal was the place 'Where Dreams Come True' and the Spring formal left you walking away saying 'Oh, What a Night!'.

Enlighten Us

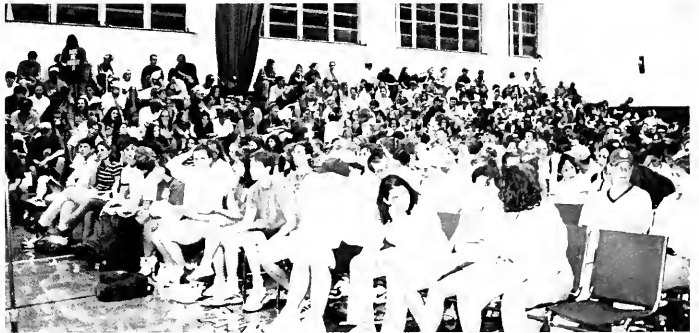

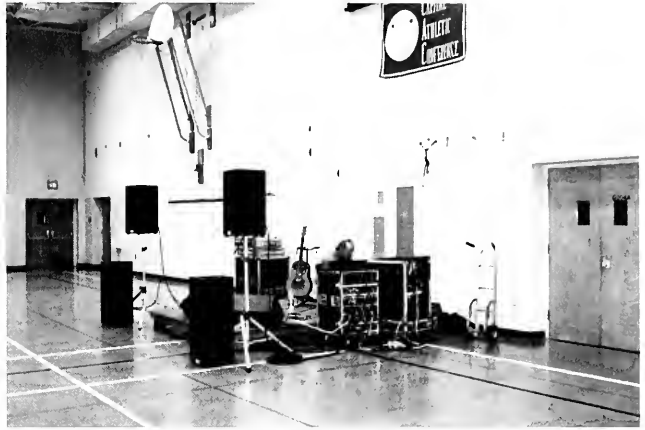

This year at York College we had a variety of speakers , lecture series and symposiums to enhance the education of not only our students but also of the community.

One of our speakers was Diego Vilas-Boas the Economic Attache for the Portuguese Government in the United States. He spoke to several members of the York College community in his presentation on how Portugal was going to benefit from the joining of all European Currency into one. This was in coordination with a new group forming to go to the European Union Conference representing Portugal. The group does mock debates of issues that are currently going on in the European Union.

This year York College was the site of the York Community Town Hall Meeting on Race. This is part of the President's initiative on race for cities to open the dialogue on the disparity among the races in communities. The meeting discussed issues of justice, health care and economic advantages that needed improvement for minorities in the community.

'Two roads diverged in a wood, and I --
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.'

-- The Road Not Taken,
Robert Frost

College is a path to wisdom, a path of enlightenment. It is the road not taken and that has made all the difference. As we conclude yet another year here at York College, we reflect upon the Horizon to see what the future brings. With this, we conclude a year of dreams, hopes and memories as we all continue across our own bridges. For the freshman, they have matured and grown. No longer are these students fresh out of High School with a glint in their eye and dreams of becoming a college student. Their dreams are now a reality as they change their views and gain knowledge forever changing them and society around them. Like those that have come before them, these are the students of the future and we wish them well. For the graduating class, you have achieved part of your dream and crossed part of your path. You are all now skilled in your discipline and are ready to venture forth, degree in hand, ready to change the world. You have forever changed York College and although we are sad to see you leave, we cannot help but be proud of your accomplishments and wish you well.

There is an old chinese proverb that states 'When you come to the end of the book, close the book'. Before the 1998 Horizon becomes a memory within the hearts and minds of everyone, I would like to thank everyone involved with the production of the memoir you hold in your hands. A special thanks goes out to : Bev Evans, Director of Student Activities, without her constant support this book could not have become reality. Kelly Smedley, our advisor and the whole publications department of ycp who have assisted us enormously getting us information and pictures whenever needed. Senate, for without whom we would have never been able to fund the book. And all of the various other members of ycp's faculty, staff, administration, and student organizations that have assisted us.

But, the biggest thanks and gratitude goes out to the staff of the Horizon. We went from a struggling organization of only three people to a thriving organization of the greatest people I have ever had the opportunity to work with. The dedication within each of you shines through the hard work that has becomes the reality you hold in your hands. You have become a part of York College, a legacy of gratitude and I wish you well over the bridges you cross in the future.

May all of your horizons be the brightest and shine on your road to happiness.

Bridges to New Horizons is the 56th production of the Horizon Yearbook by the Horizon, a student run organization at York College of Pennsylvania. Our offices are located in room 126 and 125 of the lower level of the Student Union building.

It is a TrueLife full color litho cover on 150 pt binders board, with foil application. The book itself is a Size 10 book, Smythe Sewn and it is 192 pages long with a 16 page Tip In. 300 copies of the book were produced. The book was printed on 80# gloss paper. Endsheets were printed on Cottonwood Recycled endsheet stock and designed by the Horizon Staff.

The book was printed at the Jostens School Publishing Group of State College, Pennsylvania. Our plant consultant was Janice Bigelow, and our representatives were David Ruler and Bonnie Marshall. The Cover artwork by Krista Keller of Jostens Creative Resources staff in conjunction with York College Horizon staff.

All layouts and designs were done on MacIntosh computers using Aldus Pagemaker and Jostens Yeartech programs.

Photography was done by the Horizon Staff and DaVor Photography of Bensalem, PA and our representative was Neil Wieldman.
